

The girl in the red lipstick an excellent written book by Ajay K Pandey. The book which hooked me to it till I finished reading it. I m totally speechless right now to describe this book. From the first line to the last every nook and corner has feelings, emotions, pain and a ray of hope.

A reader can never be blank with no words but here this story has just blown my mind. The author has written this so well that one could literally experience the spine of the story and the motive behind it.

Lalita the protagonist of the story a prostitute, no a lady who has suffered a lot in life, is such an inspiration and strong character. Her life story has an important message for many women out there who are looking to have a better life in society. Her struggle, sacrifice, pain and betrayal is something which no one wants to face in their dreams. But the way she is shaping her life is commendable.

Arun Kumar the best selling author is the back bone bof the story. What a noble character to describe. Simple middle class man with family values and a beautiful human being in n out. His thoughts are pure and gentle. His intentions are pure and honest. But he is broken and leading a sad life, no doubt the success is great but emotionally even he is looking for a shoulder to cry. Still he decided to help the troubled soul to shape her life.

But will two broken people be able to heal each other ???

When will our society ever accept a girl from the forbidden alley???

The author has shown the reality of how a author's life is and how much they struggle for publishing their novels.

My most favourite part of the book is the last chapter where kajol and Lalita are at office filling forms and the surprise element, and the way arun kumar handles the whole situation between his family and Lalita. It just took my heart, I was in tears of happiness and was feeling so proud of the way everything settled at the end.

Few of the best lines from the book -

A man is but a product of his thoughts. What he thinks he becomes.

Hate the sin, nit the sinner.

Always call a prostitute a lady, you have no idea what she has been through.

Guys you have to read this, the most inspirational story read in recent times. Highly recommended.
